Through our close cooperation with major and niche cargo houses we are able to find appropriate commercial employment for our shipowning / operating clients.

We are also keeping close cooperation with well respected Western European ship-owners and operators in order to provide reliable services to our cargo clients.

We are fully aware of the dynamics of the shipping and financial industries and are here to assist ship and cargo owners as a reliable long term oriented intermediate party.

We believe that human expertise is the most important factor in offering quality services. Our new services are handled by fully dedicated personnel with extensive chartering experience and education.
